

NELSON HITCHCOCK

Hitch met Dell when she asked him to audition for a production of Carousel in the summer of 1962. He has worked in radio and educational TV, has taught speech, drama, gifted students, and computer literacy from grade two through college. Hitch is an actor and director, with a master's degree in voice. With a career behind him of many opportunities to teach, perform, and direct, he is now happy to support his wife of 47 years as she continues a career of leadership and creativity. In Semple Gifts he sings "The Ballad of Aimee McPherson" by Pete Seeger.
